Dear patients, friends, and colleagues,

I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for the unbelievable outpouring of support, love and prayers since my accident on July 29, 2001. To the thousands of patients who sent gifts and cards of encouragement, I can only say two things. First, you are the greatest! Second, I will be back in the office providing OB/GYN care for you in the near future.

To my friends and colleagues, you have no idea how much your visits and support have meant to me, Anita, and our children. To take time from your busy schedules, in some cases flying in from around the country, is unbelievable and I will cherish your kindness forever.

It is true that I face new challenges, but the Lord has showered me with countless blessings and I remain the luckiest man alive. With the unbelievable support of my family, friends, patients, and colleagues, I accept and embrace these challenges. The Lord has changed the path of my journey, but my resolve, determination, and goals remain as strong and focused as ever. As the dedication at my office entrance proclaims: “To God and the caring of women and their unborn babies.”

Thank you and may God bless each and every one of you!

David L. Wolf, D.O.
